THE outcome of the agitation in the Straits Settlements with reference to the military here. The contribution of the Straits for the remission of £20,000 is to be granted for 1894 and one of £10,000 for 1895, the visionally fixed at £100,000, £110,000, and amount as if the previous sum had remained undisturbed and at the end of the period will find its annual contribution considerably higher than it has been. It is not likely that any abatement from the higher sum will be secured; it is indeed more likely following voyage she will go from China to that a still larger amount will be demanded. England, and there be overhanted and entirely Probably that would have been so in any case, but had the amount remained at the work is finished on her is a matter of con-£100,000 instead of being temporarily decreased it is possible that the colony would have been in the long run in a better position. The appeal of the colony has now been made both to a Conservative and a Liberal administration and it seems clear that no hope of rehef is to be entertained whatever Government may be in power. The case of the colony is that it should be called upon to pay only so much of the military expenditure as can be fairly debited to local requirements and that the expenditure for Imperial purposes should be borne by the British taxpayer. That principle is not accepted by the home Government, and it must be confessed that there is some reason in the refusal to accept it. If there were any funds that could be correctly described as Imperial it | be the largest freight earrier in either the Ocwould be right and proper that all Imperial | cidental and Oriental or Pacific Mail lines. and expenditure should be charged against them; but there are no such funds, and it is hard on the British taxpayer that the funds of the United Kingdom should be treated as Imperial and be debited with all Imperial expenditure. A taxpaver, in England might with some show of logic say that he did not see any more reason why he should contribute to the expense of defending Singapore than that the taxpayer of Singapore should contribute to the expense of defending England. The connection is mutually advantageous, and the expense it involves should be equitmay fairly be called upon to share the them. burden of Imperial expenditure is indeed unassailable, and the question resolves itself merely into one of amount. The case of Ceylon, Singapore, and Hongkong has hitherto borne an appearance of injustice, not only because the amounts exacted from them appeared unduly large, but also because other colonies were allowed to escape the charge entirely. This, however, it is said, is now to be altered, all the colonies or at least all the Crown colonies, being asked to pay military contributions. Most of the self-governing colonies have already

> THE ARMENIAN OUTBAGES. London, 18th November

A disputch to the Times from Vienna says that a letter has been received from Syria reporting that Zeki Pasha, a Torkish marshal, with a detechment of Anizims and a field battery, massacred 2,000 Armenians at Sassan.

The bodies of the dead were left unburied and their presence has caused an outbreak of cholers. Many Christians are reported to have fled by secret paths across the Russian frontier. So far there has been no official confirmation of this news, but if it is true it is for the Powers to share in the responsibility by their failure to $3,848.00 enforce article 61 of the Berlin treaty, which 2,055.72 imposes on them the duty of seeing that the 1,054.98 | Porte takes measures to protect Armenians. The latter declares that they hope for nothing from Europe, but they still have confidence in Great Britain.

Numerous appeals have been made by the Armenians to the British foreign office. A disputch to the Daily News from Constantinople says that the energetic action of Phillip Currie, the British Ambassader in Turkey has caused consternation among the members of the Turkish Government. Everything has been done to keep secret the fact of outrages.

LONDON, 19th November. A dispatch from Constantinople to the Stan-Turkey, the Porto has unreservedly withdrawn the charge against Mr. Hallward, the British Consul at Van, of inciting the Armenians at Sassum and elsewhere to revolt. The charge grew out of the investigation made by Mr. Hallward in the Armenia : massacro and his report to the British Ambussador. The Governor of Sitlas, who is seriously involved in the outrage, made the charge, it is said, for the purpose of revenge. The Sultan has decided to send a commission composed of three memebers of his milithe purpose of making an impartial inquiry into the outrages on Armenians. The latest news is to the effect that many of the Armeniaus who were supposed to be killed fled from the soldiery and are now returning. ABAVERY OF THE CZAR. LONDOM, 19th Novermber. The correspondent of the Standard at St. Petersburg describes the scene of confusion on Sunday afternoon in the vicinity of the fortress of St. Paul. For more than a mile in all directions was a seething, sufficating mass of people, which the Cossacks were vainly trying to keep in order with knouts and the beels of their wile horses, regardless of the lives or limbs of the people. Finally fire engines were brought, hose stretched and water turned on. The powerful streams scattered the people in front like chaff. only to be driven back by the pressure from behind. The Cossacks struck the people scross their faces with great whips. One man was killed by a kick and a boy was suffocated in the crowd. As the Caurand Grand Dake Michael passed in an open carriage on their way to the Cathedral the same afternoon a man with a beard and dressed as a peasant spring with two bounds into the road and drew from his pooket a packet, which he threw at the Czar. His majesty started back and then coolly picked up the package. The incident caused, intense commotion, the crowd believing that an attempt had been made to assassinate the Czar. The offender was instantly seized and hustled to the guardhouse. The imperial carriage, proceeded amid the murmura of and has of late repeatedly expressed her opinion the crowd Later it was announced that the that the poorer princes of the younger branches Czar had accepted a potition that had been thrown of the royal house of England ought to marry, to him. He was crying with pain and gasped: "A doctor! A doctor! 1 um choking." I'we physician were hastily aummoned, but their efforts were unavailing.

LONDO , 21st Novembar. A dispatch from Berlin says the semi-official Cologno Gasette has published an article in which it says: England is throwing hindrance in the way of German colonial undertakings. If this policy is persisted in England and Germany will come in collision. England has employed the most contemptible means to hinder Germany's progress in the Cameroons, Toga, Samos, and Delagos Bay. Germany's patience is exhausted.
